

APPEALS COURT OVERRULES PLEA OF NEGRO

QUICK ACTION IS SHOWN IN ADAMS CASE

Judge Mauck Issued Statement as Soon as Mr.
Redfern Makes Plea

CITES CONFESSION

Man is to Die in Chair on June 10

Lacey Adams, 38, now in death row at Ohio penitentiary awaiting June 10 when he will pay for his part in the murder of John Kidney with his life, was one step nearer death Wednesday after members of the district court of appeals sustained Judge Joseph W. Adkins' common pleas court finding Adams guilty as charged in the indictment.

The action of the appeals court judges against a petition in error filed by Adams' attorneys, Frank Redfern and Ray Davis, was the fastest ever seen on the bench here. After Attorney Redfern had made his argument for Adams, Judge Roscoe Mauck, presiding judge, immediately stated that the judgment of the trial court would be sustained. Usually in a capital case the court upon hearing the entire case withholds its judgment until it has reviewed and studied the record.

MAKES STATEMENT
Judge Mauck further expressing the ruling of his court which includes Judges W. H. Middleton and P. J. Blosser, stated that the act of the defendant in going upon the witness stand and admitting his part in the crime was enough to warrant the first degree finding. He said it would have been lawful for Judge Adkins to have instructed the jurors that only two questions could have been studied, those being death in the electric chair by a verdict of murder as charged in the indictment or life in the penitentiary by granting the defendant mercy. Judge Mauck asserted that a third charge making it possible for the jury to acquit the defendant could have been eliminated.

PRECEDENT MADE
The fact that the appeals court finding came before the state had so much as made a statement concerning the case established a precedent in local court circles.

No appeals have been made for Walker Brown, 24, and Henry Loudermilk, 47, who have been sentenced to die June 3 for their part in the crime. Franklin Smith, 37, is in the penitentiary for life after being granted mercy and Judge Adkins is holding the fate of John Hairston, 27, in his hands. The case was submitted to the court Monday afternoon. It is not expected Judge Adkins will announce his finding until the trial of Arthur Little, 39, is completed. Little is scheduled to go on trial Monday at 9 a. m. when 60 veniremen have been ordered to report. He is defended by Harry E. Weaver and prosecuted by E. L. Crist and Max C. Seyfert, Jr. Irvin F. Snyder was assistant to Prosecuting Attorney Crist in the Lacey Adams case.

COLUMBUS, O., March 23.—"Great improvement" in conditions at the State Institution for the Feeble-Minded at Orient, O., was reported today by State Senator Joseph N. Ackerman (R) of Cleveland, secretary of the senate welfare investigating committee, after an inquiry there yesterday. Although committee members were told that inmates formerly had been beaten with rubber hose, Ackerman declared he believes such practices have ceased. A return trip will be made later when further questioning is planned. Members of the committee today were to make public their report of conditions at the Marysville reformatory for women where they recently inquired into an alleged love affair between a convicted murderer and an employee.

While Dr. Kirk told the committee that corporal punishment has never been allowed, witnesses said it ceased entirely only when the Senate Committee began investigating the penitentiary a few months ago.

There wasn't as much cruelty practiced after the early 1931 in-

MARYSVILLE SCHOOL OUSTER DEMANDED

Superintendent Criticized for Permitting 'Love
Affair' in Home

STATEMENT WRITTEN

Relationship of Convict is Cited Today

COLUMBUS, O., March 23.—Criticizing Superintendent Louise M. Mittendorf for tolerating a love affair and sex perversion at the Marysville reformatory for women, the state senate welfare investigating committee today recommended, in effect, that she be removed.

Both Mrs. Mittendorf and her husband, Louis M. Mittendorf, assistant superintendent, "from all appearances are losing their grip upon the institution," the committee declared in a report submitted to Governor George White, and Welfare Director John McSweeney.

SUMMARY WRITTEN
In a written summary signed by all members, the committee estimated that "the evidence discloses that sex perversion is practiced in the institution by a large percentage of the inmates—from 50 to 85 per cent."

Re-examination of all present matrons and employees by the civil service commission, equivalent to a general shake-up, also was strongly urged by the committee.

Regarding the alleged courtship between Miss Inez Palmer, convicted murderess from Bellaire, O., and Edmond Norris, electrician at the institution, the committee said:

"It is apparent that Mrs. Mittendorf has permitted her good judgment to be influenced by personal likes and dislikes in this matter."

When the alleged affair was investigated, Mrs. Mittendorf denied all knowledge of its existence.

Mr. Kearns emphasized the importance of safety from a human as well as economic standpoint and stated that there is a cause for every accident and the way to have fewer accidents is to eliminate the cause. "Not that Ohio does not want to pay compensation to every person who has lost a leg, an arm or an eye, and no compensation can reward the family who has lost its bread winner."

"The department keeps in close touch with all accidents, their causes, and has experienced men who are at all times available to assist any employer, city or civic organization in promoting safety," he said, "and we want the people to use what we have available for them."

CONSTRUCTION OF SEWER TO BEGIN MONDAY

Job is Let to George T.
Myers; Bid $1,160.23
Below Estimate

USE LOCAL WORKMEN

State to Pave When City is Finished

Construction of the sanitary sewer on the Lancaster-pk is expected to begin Monday, according to L. E. Miller, city service director. The contract for the job was let Tuesday to George T. Myers, 933 S. Pickaway-st, contractor, on his bid of $2,899.44. There were eight other bidders.

The estimate for the sewer's construction was $4,059.67.

Unsuccessful bidders were William Justus, $2,974.58; John J. Hanagah of Urbana, $4,127.34; W. H. Ringwald & Son, Chillicothe, $4,196.79; Ed. M. Lahley of Newark, $3,281.08; Harold M. Bright of Columbus, $3,572.30; C. K. Konberger of Marion, $3,095.12; and Brewer & Brewer of Chillicothe, $2,850.82.

BREWERS LOW

The Brewer & Brewer bid was the lowest, dropping $18.62 under that of Myers but the fact that the latter is a local contractor and that all his workmen, including foremen will be residents of Chillicothe prompted officials to grant him the contract. Had the job gone to an out-of-town contractor labor would have been done by local men, according to contract stipulations, but foremen would have been from out-of-town.

The new sewer will begin at the center line of Main and Mingo-sts and will follow the Lancaster-pk to the city limits. Excavation will cover 3,147 cubic yards and will include seven manholes.

Mr. Miller said Mr. Myers expected to put his tools on the ground immediately and barring unforeseen difficulties excavation will begin early Monday.

USE LOCAL LABOR

Laborers for the job will be taken from the list of unemployed in the possession of Mr. Miller. Men who are not physically able to do the work will not be sent to the contractor but as far as is possible the workmen will consist only of those on Mr. Miller's list. The men will be rotated so that each is given the same amount of labor as far as possible.

As soon as the city completes its sanitary sewer it is expected the state will advertise for bids for the highway pavement on the program for this summer. The state will pay a bulk of the cost of the paving, estimated to cost $34,000. The city and county will each pay $5,000 of the cost.

Red Cross Work Report Is Made

The Pickaway-co chapter of the American Red Cross, Miss Agnes Butch secretary, has been doing an indispensable work according to a report of the organization Wednesday.

The Red Cross came valiantly to the aid of the needy during the 1930 drought. It was not then known what the Red Cross was able to accomplish. Then came the development of a program as a demonstration of what the Red Cross had to offer the community and to-day this organization is giving substantial aid to unemployment in the way of food, clothing and shoes. Since Jan. 1, 1932, the chapter has spent over $700, distributed 60 pairs of shoes, supplied 10 families with clothing and given food orders to 48 families.

SCOUTS THANKED

The chapter is indebted to the Boy Scouts of Ashville and New Holland who have served as an agency for collecting clothing. It is also indebted to F. E. Barnhill who cleaned the collected garments.

Many cases which bear eloquent witness to the joy of a child who has been enabled to attend school because of a new pair of shoes, a warm coat or underwear, good stockings and dresses or overalls, could be enumerated.

Red Cross gardens reached such an extent of fruitfulness in this community that requests are now coming in for garden seed. It is

TORNADO'S TOLL 319; SPEED AID

Bitter March Winds Hinder Work of Rescue Workers in Southern States

ALABAMA HARD HIT

Fear for Starvation, Pestilence Seen Today

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 23.—While relief workers strove to bring order out of chaos the toll of the series of tornadoes that struck in five southern states mounted today to 319 dead, and thousands injured and homeless.

Bitter March winds, whipping over desolate villages razed by powerful twisters Monday night and Tuesday, hampered efforts of Red Cross workers to provide shelter, sufficient clothing and food for the refugees.

Relief work was concentrated in Alabama, where 262 persons died before the fury of the elements that demolished sections of 20 villages.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 23.—Amid the bleak ruins left by the southland's worst storm disaster crews of rescue workers labored today to provide for thousands of homeless and prevent the spread of starvation and pestilence.

From far flung sections of the southern states, which were ravaged by a series of tornadoes, came new reports of deaths and injuries and early today the toll of fatalities stood at 275 and estimates of the injured exceeded one thousand. Approximately 2,000 men, women and children, reports indicated, lost their homes in the ferocious twisters which swirled over great sections of Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky and South Carolina.

HOSPITAL CROWDED

In the centers of suffering created by the catastrophe all permanent and temporary hospitals were jammed with the injured. Corpses of doctors and nurses incessantly carried on their merciful work of saving lives and easing pain.

Some towns, virtually obliterated by the cyclones, were patrolled by companies of the National Guard to maintain order and prevent looting.

Of the five states stricken by the tornadoes, Alabama suffered the greatest devastation and loss of life. Latest reports today showed 220 dead in that state alone, of the 25 Alabama communities visited by the storms, there were virtually wiped off the map. These were Northport, where the death toll attained 28; Cullman, with a fatality list of 18 and Marion where 18 lives were lost.

Georgia reported 34 known dead.

WHITE LAUDED AS 'GRID' STAR

Expected To Make Bishop Varsity Berth; Also Stellar In Track Events.

Howard White, son of Troy W. White, S. Court-st., is expected to be a regular in the backfield of the Ohio Wesleyan football varsity next fall. He will be a sophomore. A fine tribute is paid to the athlete in a story in the Delaware newspaper which is as follows:

"Howard White who proved to be one of the best backfield men on the neophyte football aggregation gives promise of developing into a varsity performer. His ability, combined with speed, in running the gauntlet through varsity tacklers last fall attracted the attention of the gridiron mentors.

"White also excels as a sprinter and hurdler. Without any training he sped over the high hurdles in 5.6 seconds and the low hurdles in 5.2 to garner first place in the freshman telegraphic meet with Michigan state. Thus performance placed him within 1 of the best time chalked up by Wesleyan varsity hurdlers.

White attended Chillicothe high school where he starred in football and track. In a state scholastic track meet he won the hurdle event from Keller, Ohio State luminary. Walter Young, Wesleyan and in 1923-24 and now coaching Chillicothe, was instrumental in sending White to Wesleyan.

After Howard's graduation his folks moved to Circleville and he began to work. At present White's younger brother is playing on Circleville's first string cage squad.

"As a hurdler and gridiron ball carrier, Howard reminds Coach Gauthier of 'Chic' Peace who graduated from Wesleyan in 1926.

"An elusive hard driving ball carrier is in dire demand, and White has creditably displayed these desired qualities in the role of a colorful freshman halfback.

AT THE GRAND
What words would you most want to learn if visiting a foreign country? Most of us would vote with the character played by the rollicking John Arledge in "Heartbreak." Fox romance co-starring Charles Farrell and Madge Evans, which opens at the Grand Theatre Wednesday.

As a modern Don Juan on duty on the Alpine front, Arledge bursts into Farrell's quarters to tell him that he now knows Italian as fluently as his native tongue. It turns out that he has finally learned to translate "I love you."

Arledge's antics as a comic Casanova add a necessary relief to what is otherwise one of the most heart touching, romantic stories ever told.

The remainder of the featured support includes Hardie Albright and Paul Cavenagh, Alfred L. Werker directed.

AT THE CLIFTONA
A strange plot of mystery, love and retribution in a circus side-show; fantastic people and situation that would do credit to the bizarre mind of an Edgar Allan Poe; and an amazing romance among a people apart from the rest of humanity, figure in "Freaks," which will be the attraction starting Friday at the Cliftona Theatre.

Its principal actors include the queerest people ever assembled, freaks, who have never been seen on the screen before, such as the man with half a torso, the Armless Wonder, the Living Skeleton, Siamese Twins and the fantastic Pin Head people. These odd monstrosities play roles in support of a well-known film cast which includes Wallace Ford, Leila Hyams, Olga Baclanova, Roscoe Ates, Henry Victor and Harry Earles, the midjet who scored in "The Unholy Three."

BOY SCOUT NEWS

The meeting of the Boy Scout troop 107 was called to order by the scoutmaster, Ludwig Haecker, Friday evening. The scouts were lined up and inspected by the assistant scoutmaster, Charles Kirkpatrick. The scouts returned to their seats and dues were collected and minutes read.

The scoutmaster informed the boys that from now on the meetings would be held in the basement of the Elks Lodge, N. Court-st. Scouts were then taken on the scout's pace for one mile. When they returned practice for the sack race to be given at the scout circus was held. A game of "takeaway" was played and the meeting was closed by Horace Gilmore, who led in the Scout Oath.

Fifteen members of Scout troop 158 gathered Saturday morning in front of the Presbyterian church to go on a hike. Scoutmasters L. D. Young and Vatter Courtwright, took the boys to Devil's Backbone. Hermann Chenoweth of Five Points a former successful Scoutmaster of a Chicago troop, came bringing two Five Points scouts. Mr. Chenoweth is starting a farm patrol in Five Points. He and his patrol are invited to be a part of our troop and to share our activities.

When we arrived at our destination and selected our camp spot, we built a fire for the scoutmaster. The boys then chose partners and started gathering tinder for a fire building contest. Mr. Chenoweth drove stakes in the ground four feet apart; then strings were tied on the stakes twelve and eighteen inches above the ground. When the first whistle was blown the boys arranged themselves at their compartment with their fuel one foot from underneath the string.

At the second whistle, the race was on. Mark Maxey and Vaughn Young had a fire going in thirty seconds and in 70 seconds their strings were burned in two. Orris Bosworth and John Holland were second, having their strings burned in two minutes. The third place was won by Paul Miller and Dudley Iles whose fire burned the string in nine minutes. The winners were given a pound of peanuts which they generously shared with their companions.

The boys then built their own fires over which they cooked their dinner after which a trail was made by Lloyd Dunn and Mr. Chenoweth. The boys tracked their trail through the woods. After this the boys were divided in two groups the Indians and the Cowboys. The Indians were given ten minutes in which to hide, then the Cowboys looked for them, but the red skins were never found. At two o'clock every one headed for home.

The Fox Patrol had the largest representation, the winners of the first, second and third prizes all being members of that patrol. The scouts participating in the hike were scoutmasters, Young and Chenoweth, assistant scoutmasters, Lloyd Dunn and Bill Robinson, patrol leaders, Mark Maxey of the Foxes and Eliza Paxon of the Wolves. Other boys were Paul Miller, Vaughn Young, Orris Bosworth, Dudley Iles, John Holland of the Foxes and Allen Smith and three other boys of the Wolf Patrol.

The next scout meeting will be held March 25.

Scout troop 167 met in the Evangelical church Monday evening. Scoutmaster, Manley Carothers, was in charge. More plans for the scout circus were discussed. The troop is trying to raise money to buy a troop flag to take to the circus. Help of the troop committee or anyone else interested would be appreciated.

The weekly meeting of Scout troop 168, held at the Presbyterian church Monday evening, was opened with the salute to the American flag led by Bill Woodring. Two model bird houses have been completed by two scouts in this troop, Charles McWhorten and Charles Young.

Assistant scoutmaster Young gave a talk on how to build bird houses. All boys are to have a model of a bird house and also a rough sketch map of land at the next meeting.

Instructions in marching and drill work were given by Assistant Scoutmaster Young and the following games were played by the boys, rooster fight, crab race and steal the bacon.

The meeting was brought to a close when the scout oath was led by Elvin Keaton.

A foursome that played 6 round of golf on 6 different links in 14½ hours—J. McCulloch, J. Carmichael, G. Dalziel, G. Carr, Michael.

SPRINTERS ELIGIBLE

COLUMBUS, O., March 23.—Track activities at Ohio State University looked up today following the eligibility declaration of four stars who were barred from athletic competition during the winter quarter because of scholastic deficiencies. Those reinstated are Don Bennett, sprinter; John (Whitey) Wonsowicz, pole vaulter; Lloyd Wise, quarter-miler; and Willis Richards, hurdler and dash man.

POTATOES, SCIENCE FINDS, TOO NEAR A REST CURE, TOO. PARIS.—It is not only human beings who need a good rest cure from time to time; potatoes do, too, according to Mr. Constantin, member of the French Academy of Science.

The humble potato, he says, is subject to degeneration when it is reared in unfamiliar soil or is attacked by a certain virus. Both of these causes of degeneration can be effectively dealt with by sending the potatoes off to grow in a high altitude for a certain period of time. The mountain air is as necessary to them as it is to certain people.

The potato diseases are not cured by the high altitude, but the rest cure enables the seed potatoes to resist the attacking evils.

ANIMAL MORGUE FOUND. PRINCE RUPERT, B. C.—Bodies of six wolves and twelve mountain goats, were unearthed when fishermen at Alice Arm attempted to clear a slide from a small bay. Apparently the goats had been pursued by the hungry wolves and had disturbed loose soil on a ridge above the bay attempting escape. All were carried away by the slide.

and scores injured in some seven towns. The Georgia tornado wrought its greatest havoc in the northern communities of Dalton, Cartersville, Rome and Athens. The furious winds also attacked Atlanta, Decatur and Milledgeville, but with diminished force. In each of these three cities one death occurred.

TENNESSEE'S IS 17
Tennessee's count of the dead reached 17. Six towns in that state were in the path of the twisters. Near Pulaski, Tenn., five members of one family were crushed to death when their home collapsed.

The tornadoes had nearly spent their force by the time they struck parts of Kentucky and South Carolina. Two were killed in each of these states.

Special disaster rescue workers were speeding to Birmingham today from the National Red Cross headquarters at Washington. Tornado relief headquarters were established in this city by the Red Cross with C. H. McFarlane, national field worker, in command. Salvation Army workers and American Legion posts sent volunteers to the stricken areas to cooperate in relief work.

ORDER GUARDSMEN
After issuing an appeal to all citizens of Alabama to contribute funds and supplies to the cause of rehabilitation, Gov. E. W. Miller yesterday ordered additional details of the national guard to Northport and Sylacauga. The reinforcements were dispatched upon receipt of reports that looting had broken out in these two towns.

Emergency relief stations were established at Chilton, Talladega, Clay, Cullman and Shelby counties.

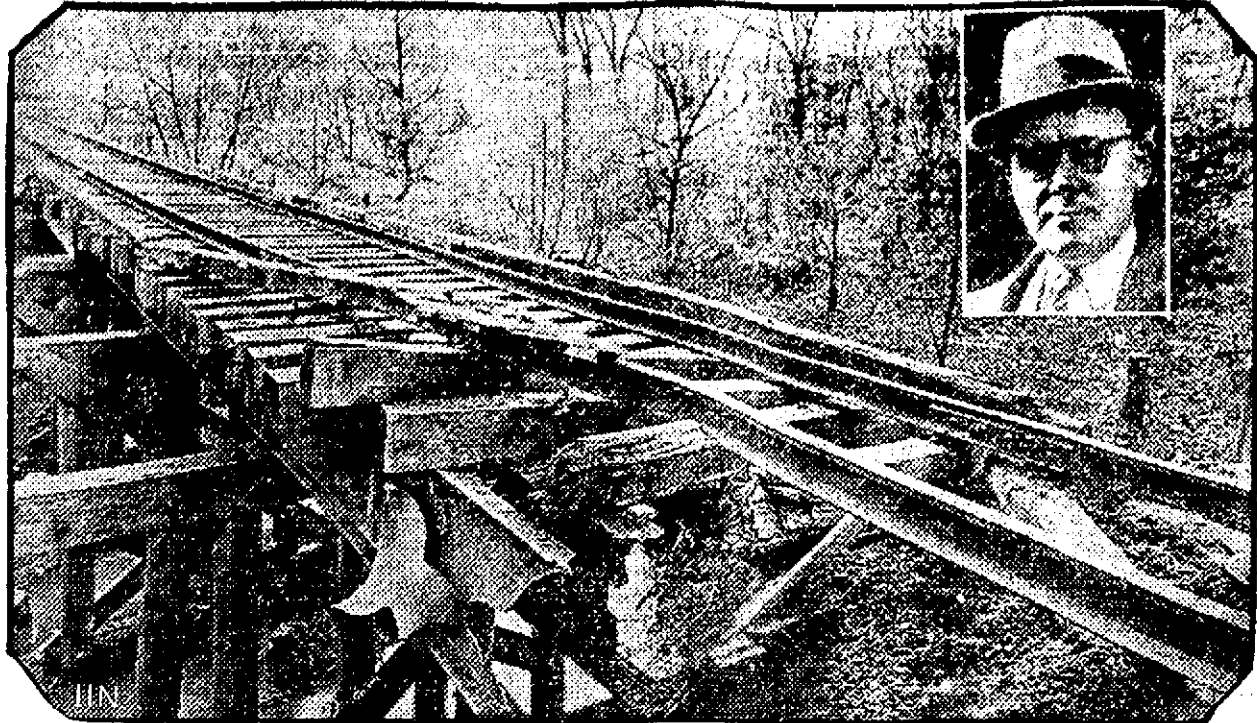

The American Legion was active in the work of organizing camps for homeless refugees, while the Salvation Army rushed blankets and clothes to the storm-stricken regions.

Volunteer doctors and nurses, conveyed in police cars, continued to pour out of Birmingham into the Warrior river valley where the suffering prevailed.

REPAIR COMMUNICATION
Telegraph, telephone and power wires, felled by the storms, were being speedily repaired and a more accurate check of the dead and injured was rendered possible by the restoration of communication facilities.

An accurate accounting of property damage was as yet impossible. But estimates placed it in excess of $5,000,000.

THE POI PARADISE

HONOLULU—What pork and beans are to Boston, what ham and eggs are to American the world over, fish and poi are to dwellers in Hawaii. That the people living on the island of Oahu are fond to say the least, of fish and poi, is evidenced by the fact that 2,226, 239 pounds of the sticky, paste-like poi were consumed during the past year together with 3, 890,000 pounds of fish, the latter not counting the amount caught and eaten by private individuals.

vestigation, they testified, but corporal punishment did not cease.

They told of boy and girl inmates being beaten with leather straps and rubber hose; of clothing being taken to inmates by relatives being given to attendants, and for inmates made to kneel in corners for long periods of time as punishment.

BOHNERT TO TALK

One youth was made to kneel from Sunday to Friday for some infraction of the rules, one witness testified.

Witnesses said staff meetings are never held nor new employees given training or instruction.

Nathan Bohnert, state representative from Pickaway-co, is expected to testify when the committee resumes its probe at Orient. He has complained of the management, it is understood.

The population of the Orient farm is about 2500. There are about 250 employees. The farm formerly was a part of the Institution for Feeble-Minded in Columbus, but now is a separate institution. Inmates are sent from the Columbus institution to the farm, however, but their release is decided upon by those in charge of the farm.

KIDNAPING LEADS

Pat's Queen" at the annual engineering students' ball.

Three engineering students were shot when they attempted to administer the ancient campus custom of shaving the heads of Frederick and another law student, Max A. Patten, of Columbia.

D. Frank Luckey of Columbia received a bullet in the abdomen. Doctors today accorded him a slim chance to live.

Jerry F. Cebe, of St. Louis, was shot in both legs and was in a serious condition.

Charles Love, of Jefferson City, was shot in the right leg. His wound was not serious.

BEAT LAW STUDENT
After the scuffle in which the shooting occurred Frederick and Patten escaped from the crowd of engineering students. Their adversaries, however, overtook Frederick, forced him into an automobile and there administered a beating upon the law student.

Frederick was rescued by police who were searching for him as a consequence of the shooting. The student suffered a probable fracture of the skull and numerous bruises.

The fight began in front of a rooming house near the campus. Frederick and Patten were seized by the engineering students as they emerged from the house. The head-shaving hazing was planned as a means of reprisal for the kidnaping of Miss Butterfield.

Greater than the art itself is the stick-to-it-iveness of the artist.

Queen of Engineers

Beautiful Mary Louise Butterfield (above), co-ed at the University of Missouri, won't have to worry about a bonnet for at least one week. Mary has been chosen by the M. U. engineering students to reign over the Engineering Week celebration as queen. So she'll wear a crown on her Titian locks. Miss Butterfield is a journalism student and expects to become a girl reporter.

CHICAGO MAN

well nevertheless was reported to have hopes he could establish direct or indirect but immediate contact with the abductors because of clues that suddenly came into his possession.

"All I can say is that I possessed such information I believed would be of value," he said before entraining here last night for his home.

"I presented it to Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh, to Colonel H. Norman Schwartzkopf and to Governor Harry A. Moore.

"The situation is extremely critical and I desire to give every possible assistance."

Previously he told newspapermen he regarded his information as "The best yet," and declared he was not working on it alone.

Caldwell specifically denied reports he acted in behalf of Chicago's "Secret Six," the organization formed to combat crime in Chicago, and which is known to have investigated certain promises appearing in the Lindbergh abduction.

Caldwell's latest conference with Lindbergh was the third in five days.

AN ACTIVE MAN
A former president of the board of education in Chicago, a war time naval air pilot, now active in business and politics in his home city, Caldwell visited the governor and the famous flyer first last Thursday.

He rushed back to Chicago the same night, returning quietly last Monday and again laying information before Lindbergh and the authorities.

It was reported Lindbergh reposed full confidence in whatever disclosures Caldwell made to him. It was impossible to obtain admission of one report that either the kidnapers or their representatives, overhearing Caldwell talk casually in a restaurant about the case, telephoned him and told him, "he could help more than he thought," in aiding the Lindberghs.

According to this story, Caldwell was informed the kidnapers would deal only with him, Colonel Lindbergh or with federal secret service agents in opening negotiation for the return of 21-months Old Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr. At least once this week, Caldwell visited New York.

REPORTS UNCONFIRMED
Caldwell refused also to confirm published reports that he had reason to believe the kidnaped child was held by members of Al Capone's gang. Capone, king of racketeers, from a jail cell recently offered to engage in a search for the stolen infant if he were freed on bail to permit this activity.

Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the New Jersey state police, admitted he received some information from Caldwell.

"This information has been checked and found to be of no importance to this investigation. Any further information he may have is to be similarly checked and investigated."

Observers felt, however, that it must have been a startlingly important lead which Caldwell obtained to cause him to drop his manifold interests hastily and undertake the journey here with its ramified tasks.

PARENTS ARE WELL
From the Lindbergh estate came reports today, the 22nd since the child was abducted from his crib in his nursery, that both Colonel Lindbergh and his wife, the former Anne Morrow, were well and absolutely unshaken in their faith their golden-haired, blue-eyed baby will be returned to them.

Several clues run down by the police forces under Schwarzkopf again proved fruitless.

Search of the farm house of Ed Kutchera, New York cabinet maker, near which some wood believed to resemble that used in making the kidnapers' ladder was found, resulted in no revelations of importance.

A gun and a rifle were in the deserted looking house, as well as a woman's coat and some children's clothing.

NEAR FLYER'S HOME
Kutchera explained he used the house for week-end visits occasionally. It is situated near Nesheanic, N. J. five miles from the Lindbergh home.

Some specimens of handwriting found in the home were taken for checking by the ransom note left by the abductors on the theory the kidnapers might have used the deserted house as a temporary shelter after their escape.

A spectacular raid on a Bronx house, in New York, on a tip Harry Fleischer, Detroit and New York gangster, was there, failed to reveal any trace of his whereabouts.

Fleischer was mentioned several times in connection with the kidnaping. A truck driver also told police he saw an automobile in Newark shortly after the kidnaping. It contained two suspiciously acting men and a baby wrapped in a woolen blanket, he said.

After seeing a rogue's gallery picture of Fleischer, he felt certain he was one of the men in the car.
